Embedded payments provider

Why included in the T100?

- OpenPayd's research suggests 96% of European businesses are planning to offer or seriously considering offering embedded payments to customers by 2026
- Embedded payments allow clients to provide a more personalized payment experience to their customers, whilst retaining a larger share of unit economics

Company Overview

- Banking-as-a-service provider enabling non-financial companies to build new products, streamline operations and manage payments globally
- Products available to clients include accounts, card issuing, foreign exchange and international payments
- OpenPayd runs on a single API, helping to reduce the integration work faced by clients

Recent Developments

- Sep 22 – eToro announces it is working with OpenPayd, helping eToro Money users manage their funds in one place and easily transfer to and from their account
- Jun 22 – OpenPayd announces partnership with open banking platform Yapily, creating a banking and payments ecosystem through a single API
